Overview

Survey of Loan Repayment
Programs

Program Data and Comparisons

Rural Health Transformation:
Federal Funding Opportunities

Key Points

- Loan repayment programs offer an opportunity for student loan relief in exchange for service in underserved areas. Programs exist for health care, education, legal services and other public service.
- State and federal loan repayment programs differ by award amounts; terms of service commitment; and types of practitioner.
- State appropriations have increased substantially over the past 4 years, but it is not yet clear if these investments are leading to enhanced retention in rural areas.
- New Mexico's Health Professional Loan Repayment (HPLRP) program may need to adapt to remain competitive with federal and other states' programs.
- The Rural Health Transformation Program (RHTP) funding opportunity may provide additional support for rural clinicians through loan repayment and other incentives.

Federal Loan Repayment Programs

National Health Service Corps State Loan Repayment (SLRP)

What it is:

The State Loan Repayment Program (SLRP) provides grant funding for states. States develop their own loan repayment initiatives that work for their residents. Providers receive awards through SLRP-funded programs and agree to work in areas with provider shortages. Administered by the Higher Education Department (HED) through its Health Professional Loan Repayment Program (HPLRP) and supplements the state-funded program.

Who it's for:

Primary care medical, mental and behavioral health, and dental clinicians.

The Commitment:

Varies by State service commitment of two to four years at an NHSC-approved site in a HPSA, depending on the length of the scholarship. New Mexico HPLRP commitment is currently three years, up to $75 thousand.

Indian Health Service (IHS) Loan Repayment

What it is:

A service-obligated loan repayment program that covers eligible health education loans for health professionals. The HIS sponsors the program, which involves a commitment to practice in a qualifying IHS health facility.

Who it is for:

Includes physicians, nurses, dentists, psychologists, and physical and occupational therapists. Priority is given to American Indian and Alaska Native applicants but is open to all qualifying health professionals interested in practicing in Indian health facilities.

The Commitment:

At least 2 years full-time in an IHS-approved facility, up to $50 thousand.

Additional NHSC Loan Repayment and Student Assistance Programs

NHSC Scholarship Program (SP)

What it is:

A scholarship awarded to students in accredited primary care health programs to cover tuition, fees, and provide a monthly stipend for educational costs.

Who it's for:

Students pursuing primary care disciplines, such as physicians, dentists, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants, who are committed to serving underserved communities.

The Commitment:

A service commitment of two to four years at an NHSC-approved site in a HPSA, depending on the length of the scholarship. Up to $120 thousand for a four-year term of service.

NHSC Students to Service (S2S) Loan Re-payment Program

What it is:

A loan repayment assistance program for medical (MD/DO) and dental (DMD/DDS) students in their final year of school.

Who it's for:

Medical and dental students who need financial assistance to repay educational loans.

The Commitment:

Three years of full-time clinical practice at an NHSC-approved site in a HPSA after completing medical/dental school and any required postgraduate training.

H.R.1 – Rural Health Transformation Program (RHTP)

Rural Health Fund - $50 Billion To States Over 5 Years

Source: CMS, KFF

- CMS has issued the funding opportunity with submissions required November 5th, 2025. Awards to be determined by December 31.
- Funding commences FFY 2026 with $10 billion allocated each year through FFY 2030
- States must submit a Rural Health Transformation Plan with the goal of spending each year's funds within a fiscal year
- HCA issued a consultation RFP and is currently selecting a contractor.
- Preliminary estimates for New Mexico are a floor of $100 million / year, contingent upon an approved submission.

Rural Health Transformation Program Workforce Incentives

- Workforce Development is one of the five strategic goals associated with the RHTP grant (in addition to public health outcomes; sustainable access; care innovation and health technology).
- A stated goal is recruiting and retaining clinical workforce talent to rural areas, with commitments to serve rural communities for a minimum of 5 years.
- Activities may include new incentive programs, expanded scopes of practice, additional or expanded training programs, or telehealth support to extend the reach of specialists.
- Applications are expected to address clinician to population ratios within their workforce enhancement proposals.
- Interstate medical compacts are included within the scoring rubric for the grant.

Thank You.
