

A Union of Professionals

Professional Learning & You

Randi Weingarten

PRESIDENT

Lorretta Johnson

SECRETARY-TREASURER

Evelyn DeJesus

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

OUR MISSION

The American Federation of Teachers is a union of professionals that champions fairness; democracy; economic opportunity; and high-quality public education, healthcare and public services for our students, their families and our communities. We are committed to advancing these principles through community engagement, organizing, collective bargaining and political activism, and especially through the work our members do.

As a member of the American Federation of Teachers, you have access to a variety of programs and resources designed to enhance your professional growth. This brochure highlights many of these opportunities. You can also visit aft.org/education, email edissues@aft.org or contact your local union.

By addressing the professional needs of our educator members, we are able to help them become even more successful in their careers; in their union; in the institutions in which they work; and in serving the students, families and communities they serve.

The AFT Professional Learning Program

The AFT has long recognized that the union's responsibilities go beyond the traditional "bread and butter" issues of salary and benefits. This program represents one of the union's major efforts to improve student achievement by making a difference in practitioners' performance and professional growth. Our program of more than 20 professional development courses:

- Is rooted in evidence-based educational, cognitive and social science research.
- Is guided by cutting-edge experts in the field and designed by frontline educators who know firsthand what goes on in classrooms and schools every day.
- Provides educators with the necessary tools and resources to make complex decisions and select the most effective strategies for meeting individual students' academic, social and behavioral needs.
- Connects excellent teaching practice with broader education policy issues and campaigns.
- Allows for internal capacity building and enables affiliates to meet the unique needs of their school community by training local members to develop coursework and deliver locally based trainings.

Union-sponsored professional learning strengthens our relationship with our members and is an indispensable tool for building broader, deeper support for the union. When professional learning is led by peers, participants are more likely to feel invested in the process and incorporate new knowledge into their practice.

To see our catalog of course offerings, go to aft.org/sites/default/files/aftplprogram.pdf, or to join the AFT eLearning Community, go to aftelearning.org/professional-learning.

Customized Professional Learning

In addition to our more than 20 professional development in-person courses and Summer Educator Academy (see page 8), the union offers customized professional learning opportunities for AFT members to meet diverse teaching and learning needs. These can be done in person or via distance learning and webinars. Our customized professional development workshops include:

- Promoting Students' Social Emotional Well-Being and Mental Health
This workshop focuses on identifying and understanding common childhood mental illnesses; understanding research on adverse childhood experiences and trauma, as well as their implications for practice; and creating and implementing strategies for supporting students in the challenging work to help them thrive.
- Supporting Grieving Students
In this workshop, participants learn the important role of school personnel in supporting grieving students, what to say and what not to say to a grieving child, how to advocate for peer support, and how to provide support over time.
- Strategies for Student Success
This workshop is a high-quality, research-based program that consists of three hourlong modules that create a manageable way to connect with educators. These modules address teaching and learning in a way that benefits new and veteran teachers alike. The content in the modules can be tailored to benefit individuals, groups and the whole school.
- Informing Instruction: Linking the Assessment Process to Teaching and Learning
This course ensures new employees or veteran educators understand the process of using student learning objectives or growth measures. Participants will gain the confidence to take control of the process and use it as a tool for success in the classroom.
- Instructional Supports Workshops
These workshops are designed to meet the needs of educators who are looking for strategies and instructional practices on implementing academic standards that they can learn and apply right away in their classrooms. Workshops include:
 - Formative Assessments
 - English Language Learners

- Considerations for Students with Disabilities in Inclusive Settings
- Differentiating Instruction
- K-12 Writing
- K-12 Science

AFT Professional eLearning

Through this web-based, professional learning platform, members are able to access content to help them learn new techniques and skills and to get tips that will help them create classroom environments that foster student success. The AFT eLearning platform also provides a space where educators and locals can connect with their peers and colleagues from around the country and access support, the latest research and more.

The site hosts a variety of professional learning opportunities, including webinars, self-paced courses, blended learning, and communities. Affiliates can contribute to the site by adding their online offerings to the platform or announcing face-to-face offerings that will be available to members in their district.

This site is free to AFT members and locals. Go to AFTeLearning.org to create your account or contact elarning@aft.org for more information.

AFT Teacher Leaders Program

The ever popular Teacher Leaders Program identifies and brings together a select group of educators and then supports and empowers them to assume active leadership roles in their schools, unions and communities. The AFT noticed the lack of teacher voice in education policy discussions in our country and decided to do something about it. Why weren't experts in the classroom being asked for their input on how to ensure that our children have the best opportunities to learn? To help address this question, the AFT designed the Teacher Leaders Program in 2011, based on Ellen Meyers' Teachers Network, to help prepare educators to facilitate discussion of the issues that affect our profession—both locally and nationally. To date, more than 1,000 individuals from 30 locals have participated in the program.

Teacher leadership embodies the idea that classroom teachers can become formal, recognized leaders within their schools and communities while still maintaining their in-the-classroom status. Teachers who feel passionate about education—and want to continue working with children—can become coaches, peer evaluators, mentors, specialists in curriculum and instruction, advocates, activists, union leaders, teachers on special assignment, fellows in state or national programs, “teacherpreneurs,” National Board Certified Teachers, teachers of the year, and more. This program helps educators find their niche and follow their passion.

For more information, email Marjorie Brown at mbrown@aft.org.

AFT-Sponsored Conferences

AFT TEACH Conference

TEACH (Together Educating America’s Children), the AFT’s biennial educational issues conference, brings together educators from across the country for workshops, discussions and speakers. The conference attracts more than 2,000 participants, including AFT members, state and district administrators, school board members, and representatives of the higher education, business and social services communities nationwide.

TEACH offers:

- Turnkey tools and resources to use back home;
- Ways to engage on issues facing your students, school or community;
- Hands-on sessions;
- Networking opportunities; and
- Thought-provoking speakers.

Learn more at aft.org/teach.

AFT Professional Learning Summer Educator Academy

This nine-day train-the-trainer academy provides union-sponsored, research-based professional learning that addresses the complexities of teaching. The program is designed to help local unions build the capacity to deliver high-quality professional learning services to all educators—teachers, paraprofessionals and school-related personnel. The AFT collaborates with leading education researchers to synthesize and apply research-validated best practices. Classroom-based activities help participants connect the research findings to their daily work, including small group interaction, role-playing, case studies, simulations, Socratic seminars and shared reflection. This comprehensive, intensive and energizing training prepares these educators to return to their locals as facilitators in specific course areas. These individuals, in turn, train others to facilitate sessions at the local level in a pyramiding effect designed to reach larger numbers of participants.

AFT Center for School Improvement Leadership Institute

The CSI Leadership Institute, created in collaboration with the United Federation of Teachers Teacher Center and AFT national partners, focuses on helping teams discover how to collaboratively create sustainable systems change—around the issues impacting their own schools' students, educators and families. Through intensive work sessions, teams strengthen their collective leadership capacity, as well as learn how to lead and facilitate school transformation that results in improved student performance and improved teaching and learning environments; the teams dig deeper into their local data and integrate strategies to improve school culture and climate, always with an eye toward sustainability.

AFT Share My Lesson Virtual Conference

Each spring, the AFT runs a free three-day virtual conference featuring more than 40 webinars on a wide variety of topics. Each webinar provides one hour of professional development credit for participation. Topics range from strategies for distance learning, teaching current events and controversial issues, instructional strategies across the curriculum, to social emotional learning, and trauma-informed practices. All webinars are available on demand, and webinars since 2020 include closed captioning in English and Spanish.

Learn more at ShareMyLesson.com/webinars.

AFT Innovation Fund

The AFT Innovation Fund, open to affiliates at the state and local level, works to identify, nurture and bring to scale union and educator-led innovations in public education. Through this funding, the AFT provides a platform for its local affiliates and members to lead and engage partners in improving outcomes for our members and the people and communities they serve. The majority of the fund's resources are distributed as grants to affiliates to be used to plan and carry out their work. In addition, the fund's staff and other AFT departments provide technical assistance to help grantees carry out their work through monthly calls, periodic site visits, and connections to experts and resources.

For more information, go to aft.org/bigbet.

Shaping the Future

Educators Rising

To broaden and diversify the teaching talent pool, we need to start early and grow our own. The AFT is proud to partner with Educators Rising (formerly Future Teachers of America) to support elective courses and career academies for high school students to explore teaching. The EdRising Academy curriculum and “Beginning to Teach” microcredentials can help you get a program started in your school/district.

The AFT is collaborating with Educators Rising to recruit union leaders to plan and spearhead implementation of Educators Rising programming.

For more information, email dkrusema@aft.org or go to educatorsrising.org.

Grow Your Own Programs

Teacher diversity is crucial to student success. Numerous studies indicate the benefits for students of color who attend schools with a significant concentration of teachers of color who share their cultural, linguistic and racial background. The AFT recognizes that diversity is a key component to equality and opportunity, and strongly believes in diversifying the teaching workforce through Grow Your Own (GYO) programs—a promising practice for recruiting people of color to the profession. GYO is a recruitment strategy designed to address teacher shortages and teacher diversity gaps that are especially prevalent in underserved communities across the country.

For more information, email Dyan Smiley at dsmiley@aft.org.

AFT New Teachers

The AFT has developed resources targeted toward teachers in the early years of their careers; all are designed to help beginning teachers:

- Find valuable tools for the first weeks in school, including the basics of setting up classrooms and working with parents, the essentials of classroom management, and resources on content knowledge and pedagogy.
- Discover AFT resources on teacher evaluation, feedback, professional development and teacher leadership.
- Learn about the union and how to become more active and engaged in the work we do and in the local community.
- Connect with other new teachers through online issue discussions.

For more information, visit the New Teacher Community on Share My Lesson:
sharemylesson.com/AFTNewTeachers.

Online Resources

Share My Lesson | sharemylesson.com

The AFT's free award-winning lesson-sharing website provides anyone who works with students support and a place to collaborate on new ideas and best practices to enhance the profession and the larger community. With more than 1.7 million members, Share My Lesson is where teachers, parents and school staff can:

- Find thousands of standards-aligned, preK-12 lesson plans, activities and professional development webinars that span the curriculum and content areas.
- Access high-quality resources from content partners like ADL, Colorín Colorado, Facing History and Ourselves, First Book, iCivics, Morningside Center for Teaching Social Responsibility, PBS NewsHour Extra and Teaching Tolerance.
- Participate in discussions via communities, and get resources for issues like bullying prevention, social emotional learning, engaging parents, meeting the needs of diverse English language learners and helping students cope with traumatic events.
- Search lessons by grade and subject.
- Contribute their finest, most effective work to support colleagues across the country.

Colorín Colorado | colorincolorado.org

ColorinColorado.org is the premier national website serving educators and families of English language learners in grades preK-12. Colorín Colorado has been providing free research-based information, activities, and advice to schools and communities nationwide for more than a decade.

To support these educators and parents, Colorín Colorado offers free multimedia materials such as classroom videos, toolkits, research-based articles, multilingual tip sheets, newsletters, featured books and authors, and social media. The site also provides information about topics such as reading together at home and creating a welcoming classroom environment.

Colorín Colorado is a bilingual website in English and Spanish, and offers basic content in 11 other languages, including Arabic, Chinese, Haitian Creole, Hmong, Korean, Diné (Navajo), Russian, Tagalog and Vietnamese.

First Book | firstbook.org

The AFT and First Book are working together to put our shared values into practice by supporting inviting, inspiring and stimulating learning environments for our students, members and communities in need.

Through our partnership, we support:

- Children's well-being with access to new high-quality books as well as school supplies and basic-needs items at 50 to 90 percent off retail costs and in some cases for free;
- Powerful learning with First Book Marketplace books and resources to support hands-on learning opportunities and community-engagement activities;
- Building teacher and school staff capacity by highlighting new and diverse authors and books, along with tip sheets and suggested activities; and
- Fostering cultures of collaboration among students, educators, community partners, and parents to help all students succeed in school and life and reach their full potential.

Together, the AFT and First Book have partnered to distribute more than 5 million books to classrooms and programs serving students and families in need, and connected thousands of educators and staff to ongoing resources. We'd like to help you as well.

Register today at firstbook.org/AFT.

Share Your Voice

AFT members have great expertise and passion, and we want to help you share that energy, experience and wisdom with a wider audience. Opportunities are available for you to share your voice to help improve our schools and communities, including:

Become a Professional Learning Trainer

Are you interested in delivering AFT professional learning courses? Opportunities are available to join our trainer cadre to deliver courses face to face, virtually, locally or nationally. To learn more about the program and the application process, check with your local leader and email edissues@aft.org.

Start Blogging

The posts on our Schoolhouse Voices blog (aftvoices.org/school-house-voices) and Share My Lesson blog (sharemylesson.com/blog) are in large part written by teachers from around the country, with some additional commentary by AFT leaders and staff. Our teacher bloggers are sharing their experiences in the classroom—from their thoughts on how distance learning is working, to their reflections on professional learning, to their successes and struggles working with students of all backgrounds and abilities. If you are interested in adding your voice to the blog, email edissues@aft.org.

Connect with Us on Social Media

Tell us what you do on social media, and we can follow you! If you have your own blog, website, Facebook page or Twitter account, let us know. We will follow you, and might even feature you in an upcoming newsletter or article.

@AFTteach

@ShareMyLesson

@AFTteach

@ShareMyLesson

@ShareMyLesson

Newsletters & Publications

American Educator

AFT members receive this quarterly magazine. If you are not receiving this magazine and would like to, please email ae@aft.org.

AFT Teachers Professional Learning Newsletter

Sign up to receive this e-newsletter, which highlights the work our members and leaders are doing regarding professional issues. Each issue includes tips you can use with your students or share with your colleagues. Upcoming training sessions and events are also listed as well as links to new resources.

Subscribe online at aft.org/subscribe.

AFT Share My Lesson Newsletter

Sign up for this e-newsletter to get helpful ideas for engaging preK-12 students, free lesson plans, and timely professional development webinars—all based on what's happening in the news and resources aligned to upcoming holidays or events.

Subscribe online at sharemylesson.com/newsletter.

Other Publications

AFT members may request complimentary copies of AFT reports and brochures. To see the latest offerings, visit aft.org/education/publications.

Most publications are available for download, but hard copies can be requested at edissues@aft.org.

A Union of Professionals

American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO
555 New Jersey Ave. N.W.
Washington, DC 20001
202-879-4400

aft.org

AFTunion

@AFTunion

Item number: 39-05201