SUMMARY

Synopsis of Bill

Senate Memorial 19 proclaims February 7, 2007 as “Donald H. Tishman Day”.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

Senate Memorial 19 states that Donald H. Tishman has been involved in real estate development as an attorney, developer and educator for more than forty years, developing real estate in thirty-five metropolitan centers in the United States. He has been a lifetime democrat, demonstrating a lifelong devotion to the needs of all people for housing, education and justice. He served as chair of the young democrats in 1959, running a successful presidential campaign in Ohio for John F. Kennedy and he is a submariner naval veteran of World War II.

He currently serves as a professor at the University Of New Mexico School Of Architecture and the Director of the Real Estate Development Center at the University of New Mexico. He has been a member of numerous boards and commissions, including the foundation board at the College of Santa Fe and his fundraising efforts led to construction of the visual arts center on the College of Santa Fe campus. His love and knowledge of architecture have brought world-famous architects to New Mexico, including Ricardo Legoretto, who helped design the visual arts center at the College of Santa Fe and the award-winning Zocalo housing project in Santa Fe. He has developed more than forty thousand multifamily dwellings, always believing that no matter how poor one is or from what walk of life, all families should be provided with a respectable living
