A MEMORIAL

RECOGNIZING THE GROWING POTENTIAL TO RECYCLE MUNICIPAL WASTE IN NEW MEXICO AND REQUESTING A STUDY TO CAPITALIZE ON THAT POTENTIAL.

WHEREAS, the disposal of the large volumes of solid waste created by modern society has been a policy concern for state and local governments for over a generation; and

WHEREAS, the United States environmental protection agency estimates that eighty percent of the solid waste stream is recyclable into valuable and beneficial products; and

WHEREAS, recycling is widely recognized as a means to conserve water, energy and natural resources; and

WHEREAS, recycling creates on average five times more jobs than placing that same material in a landfill; and 1 coalition found that if New Mexico recycled fifty percent of 2 the state's solid waste stream, the state would see an increase 3 in five thousand direct jobs; and

4 WHEREAS, in 1990, New Mexico enacted the Solid Waste Act
5 and established the use of recycling and the diversion of waste 6 materials into useful products as priorities; and

7 WHEREAS, the Solid Waste Act set a statewide goal to 8 attain a twenty-five percent recycling rate by 1995 and a 9 further goal to increase that rate to fifty percent by 2000;
10 however, the current recycling rate stands at a mere sixteen 11 percent; and

12 WHEREAS, in recent years, New Mexico has seen vast 13 improvements in access to recycling, whereby eighty-seven 14 percent of incorporated communities now have either drop-off 15 options or curbside collections; and

16 WHEREAS, more than three million dollars ($3,000,000) of 17 federal funding has recently been invested in rural and 18 underserved communities around the state to build and expand 19 recycling collection and processing infrastructure using a 20 regionalized hub-and-spoke method to ensure efficiencies; and

21 WHEREAS, smaller communities that process recyclables for 22 sale now have a recycled material cooperative available to 23 serve their best interests and ensure market pricing; and

24 WHEREAS, New Mexico communities now have initial recycling 25 infrastructures in place and are poised to work in concert with

.196219.1

1 the state of New Mexico to expand recycling and increase

9 recycling capacity of New Mexico's communities statewide; and 20 the fifty percent recycling rate goal established in the Solid 21 Waste Act, including budget recommendations and a projected

23 C. report its findings and recommendations to the 24 appropriate interim committee designated by the New Mexico
