SECTION III: NARRATIVE

BILL SUMMARY

Synopsis: Senate Bill 271 would allow a district court clerk to issue orders for the detention of felons who are arrested for a different felony charge. Requires the person to remain in custody until each judge assigned to any previous felony cases holds a hearing to consider modification or revocation of the person’s conditions of release.

SB 271 specifies that when a chief clerk of a court receives notice (does not specify from whom) that a person on pretrial release for a felony has been arrested for a different felony charge, the chief clerk of the court is to issue an order for that person to remain in custody without bond. They would remain in custody until each judge assigned to any previous felony cases holds a hearing to consider modifying or revoking the no-bond hold.

NMLR Note: Clerks of the Court in New Mexico generally are not empowered to issue orders.
