1 WHEREAS, honey bee disease spread is impossible to track 2 without data collection and reporting; and

3 WHEREAS, New Mexico boasts approximately two thousand 4 diverse pollinator species, including three hundred species of 11 temperatures is of particular concern; and

14 but of concern are studies showing that many pollinating insect 15 populations are in decline; and

16 WHEREAS, New Mexico is home to many known species of 17 pollinators due to numerous specialized habitats and 18 ecosystems, yet New Mexico's high elevation and semi-arid 19 landscapes make it a challenging region for human, animal and 20 plant life;

22 REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO that the New Mexico
23 department of agriculture be requested to convene a working
