SUMMARY

Synopsis of HAFC amendment to House Bill 167

The House Appropriations and Finance Committee amendment to House Bill 167 (HB167) removes the appropriation.

Synopsis of House Bill 167

House Bill 167 requires the Higher Education Department (HED) to provide free high school equivalency testing to New Mexico residents. The bill appropriates $2 million from the general fund to HED to pay test and test preparation costs.

This bill does not contain an effective date and, as a result, would go into effect 90 days after the Legislature adjourns if enacted, or June 20, 2025.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

The appropriation of $2 million contained in this bill is a recurring expense to the general fund. Any unexpended or unencumbered balance remaining at the end of FY26 shall revert to the general fund.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

Adult education is housed in the HED budget. In FY25, the general fund appropriations for adult education, adult literacy, and the adult diploma program totaled $7.8 million.

HED reports that test costs for high school equivalency exams total $145 per exam and that less than 6,000 New Mexicans took a high school equivalency exam in FY24, so that total annual exam costs would be approximately $870 thousand per year.

HED notes:

New Mexico ranks 47th nationally in the number of adults with a high school diploma or high school equivalency. HED estimates that there are 190 thousand adults in New Mexico without a high school diploma or high school equivalency, but less than 3 percent of these individuals earn their high school equivalency each year. New Mexicans with a high school diploma or high school equivalency earn approximately $6,500 more per year on average due to increased employability in careers with higher wages.

CONFLICT, DUPLICATION, COMPANIONSHIP, RELATIONSHIP

The current version of the General Appropriation Act contains $1.25 million for high school equivalency tests.
