Summary:

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) does not believe that the bill has a fiscal or an administrative impact on the courts.

The AOC cannot express an opinion about the content of a bill that does not have an impact on the courts and that at some point in the future could become subject to judicial review. Therefore, an analysis is not submitted.

If the bill should change during its passage through the legislature and an impact on the courts be noted, the AOC will reply at that time.
