

CTE

The CTE programs are there to help students learn skills and prepare them for the career they want to pursue after high school.

The programs give students the opportunity to win scholarships to attend college and find jobs quickly right after graduation.

Everything that is CTE is programed to help students find their course in this world and not everything that is thought in these programs is learned in school. We as students have to go beyond the classroom. I have discovered many things in my home town that I did not even know existed.

Media Production

Media production is one of the many programs that work beyond the classroom

The program is involved with Skills USA a competition that is done outside of school and outside of the state.

This teaches students what its like to compete in the outside world and gives them the skills they need to become independent. As a skills member I can say that is true.

Culinary

- Culinary does presentations outside of school in hopes that they inspire students to join once in high school.
- They also do competition outside the state. Helping them understand what the food industry is like in the real world.

Criminal justice

Criminal justice does community service. Getting students involved outside the classroom

This program as well does competition out of state. Learning what criminal justice is all about outside of school.

BPA a CTO

I joined BPA 2 years ago. In my personal experience this CTO program has taught me many skills that I will need in the future. It has showed me that hard work pays off in time just like everything in this world.

“ There are many more other CTE programs that get involve outside the classroom and do competition. As a CTE student I know that this program will help a lot of students in the future. I was a small shy girl, but thanks to this program I am no longer a shy small girl, I am an eager young women who has no boundaries who is looking forward to a bright future. If the CTE programs did not exist I would not be the confident, eager young woman I am today.”
