

“The problem in the U.S., bluntly speaking, is there’s no transparency around what the real price of everything is. We need to do something about that because we need to know what the real price is so we can figure out the real cost-benefit is to the system....”

Andrew Witty, CEO GlaxoSmith Kline on
NPR Marketplace, May 10, 2016.

