SUMMARY

Synopsis of Bill

Senate Bill 83 exempts a debtor's homestead from the processes of the bankruptcy court and prohibits any judgment, decree or execution of a lien against it in bankruptcy court except for the payment of taxes, tax assessments or obligations contracted for the purchase, improvement or repair of the homestead. The homestead exemption is limited to the owner of the homestead and his heirs.

Significant Issues

Senate Bill 83 would give affordable housing providers the ability to file a lien on the homestead owners' property for debt owed to providers for housing improvements or repair. The bill further protects the rights of the home improvement providers to secure a means for recovery of their costs due through the lien proviso.
