SUMMARY

Synopsis of Bill

House Bill 1021 increases the maximum levy assessed per head of cattle within those counties with established predator control programs.

Significant Issues

House Bill 1021 raises the cap on special levies assessed per head of cattle from a maximum of 25 cents to $1.00.

The New Mexico Livestock Board notes the added levy will be assessed above those fees currently levied per head of cattle for other inspections.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

Those counties which have a predator control program in place will realize significant growth in revenues if the cap is implemented to the maximum limit.
