

The house rule that provides for posting roll call votes on final passage of legislation took effect on February 1, 2010. The house approved this legislation before that date.