SUMMARY

Synopsis of Bill

Senate Memorial 39 asks that regional mental and physical health service providers be encouraged to collaborate to provide exceptional service at all levels of care. The memorial says that, as the state goes through significant transition in providing healthcare services, the state needs to consider coordination of rural healthcare services, the need for large community providers to coordinate with smaller communities, and improved coordination of transportation.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

This memorial has no fiscal impact.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

In it's annual report Health Equity in New Mexico, the Health Department reports says New Mexico's size and lack of population centers make it difficult for those living in rural areas to access basic services.
